The floral decorations at many of the churches were elaborate.
At St. Mary's Catholic Church there was a solemn high mass, with Rev. L. F. Kelly, assistant pastor, as celebrant; Rev. Louis Smet, pastor, deacon, and Rev. Joseph J. Kelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, as subdeacon. The altar was banked in myriads of Easter lilies, ferns, and palms. The mass was followed by benediction. A sermon was preached by Rev. Louis Smet.

Lincoln, Neb., April 23.—I. L. Albert, of Columbus, a lawyer, proved himself a capable nurse, at the same time conducting a case in court. Albert, as counsel for Miss Mary Criss, who was prosecuting a case against D. W. Schaaf, a wealthy nurseryman, was cross-examining a witness for his client when her 5-month-old baby began to cry. ## LECTURER SAYS WAR WILL UNITE CHURCHES

Editor of "Religious Liberty" Tells Secular League Every Individual Is Free of Church Dominance.

Speaking before the Washington Secular League at its meeting at Pythian Temple yesterday afternoon, Alonzo T. Jones, editor and publisher of "Religious Liberty," maintained a consequence of the present European war will be a world empire or league of nations. He said a consequence of the war will be a world federation of religions or churches, and that the predominant consequence of the war will be a union of these two world federations—a world union of church and state, of federated nations and federated churches.

Mr. Jones maintained there is no visible church and state every individual is absolutely free and independent of all organizations, not only political, but ecclesiastical, in his thinking on the subject of religion and in his relationship to God.

The annual election of officers of the league will take place next Sunday.

First Bath in Twenty Years.

Charlestown, Ind., April 23.—After being given the first bath he has had in twenty years, according to his own admission, D. W. Hodson, who presented himself at the county farm for the poor, near here, suddenly disappeared. The mystery of his absence was solved when he showed up at his old home at Underwood, Ind., and told of the vigorous scrubbing the farm attendants administered. "Think of being soaked in water at this time of year," said Hodson. "Why it's enough to kill a man. I might have forgiven 'em, at that, if the brush they used hadn't been so stiff."

Women Couldn't Lead Hens.

HARVARD CADETS LAUDED BY WOOD

Army Man Says Students on Parade Excel Anything He Has Seen.

ITS STRENGTH 1,100 MEN

Capt. Cordier, the Commandant, Declares Many Can Handle Volunteer Troops After Graduation.

"I have seen a great many inspiring sights at Harvard, but this is really the best," said Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., as he watched the Harvard regiment at drill on a recent visit to Cambridge. Gen. Wood himself is a Harvard man and therefore has a personal interest in the institution, which is Harvard's answer to the national call for preparedness. It means that in the future the university expects to turn into civil life every four years at least 1,000 young men, every one of whom will be prepared for the birth of a new nation, and the army in the event of a national crisis.

Officers of the regular army will tell you, says the New York Times, that no man of the Harvard University has done more to further the cause of same and reasonable national preparedness than has Harvard, and this refers not only to undergraduates, but to graduates as well. The Plattsburg idea, which brought nearly 2,000 business and professional men to the shores of Lake Champlain last summer for a month's intensive military training, was the result of a little meeting of Harvard men held at the Harvard Club in New York. No other two institutions combined enrolled half as many men at Plattsburg as did Harvard, and this year the university expects to beat its splendid record.

The Harvard Regiment is commanded by Capt. Constant Cordier, U. S. A. "Although the regiment was formed on January 10, of this year," Capt. Cordier remarked, "the birth of the organization really dates back to some time in November, 1915, when a number of Harvard students gathered together at Cambridge in order to aid in the nation-wide movement for preparedness. The enthusiasm was so great that in a short time their numbers increased beyond the full strength of a battalion, and, as a result, the regiment was created. Today its strength is, exclusive of the band, over 1,100 men.

"To carry on the course of training now prescribed for the students for the camp of instruction to be held this summer, under government supervision, means a strict observance of the regulations, and hard work on the part of every one.

"In all this land there is no better material for officers than is found in the student body of Harvard. They are a splendid, manly set of fellows, and it is a pleasure to work with them. I am naturally very glad to see the organization already been accomplished, and I am sure that in another year, on top of the experience they will gain at the training camps this summer, we will be in a position to supply a goodly number of prospective officers for our volunteer force."

"AN ETHER SOUSE"

Prisoner Tells Judge Why He Stole Drug from Hospital.

Los Angeles, April 23.—How and why he invaded the ether supply of a hospital can be told by a package of iodoforn and a roll of bandages, told by H. L. McCaslin in Judge White's court, was declared by the court to be the most peculiar statement ever made before him. McCaslin described himself as "an ether house" and pleaded guilty to the larceny charge. According to his story, his indulgence in the soporific dates back two years. He said:

"One night I started to ride to work at Baker street and a motorcycle and the way was struck by a car. They took me to a hospital to operate on my leg, and for the first time in my life I smelled ether. I thought it was the finest experience I had had. Since then I have persuaded six more doctors to operate on me. Then I found I could buy the drug. 'Lately I have been living in Pomona on orange day I brought some of the fruit from Pomona to the hospital, where I met some of the boys who were there when I was a patient. I got a chance to get a big can and some things for my leg. Then I was arrested."

Illness Brings Hair.

Findlay, Ohio, April 23.—A. A. Thompson, an Orange township farmer, has just passed through a siege of illness that has baffled physicians. He recovered from that, only to become afflicted with double pneumonia. He is now convalescent. Before he was taken to the hospital, his black hair is now growing on his head.

PREACHER TALKS ON SHAKESPEARE

Rev. Earle Wilfley Says Bard Did Not Give Goody-Good Instructions.

Annual Shakespearean Sermon Followed by Readings from Plays—Thinks Bacon Could Not Write Them.

"Shakespeare was no preacher and did not give the goody-goody admonition: 'Be good and you will be happy.' He was life and pictured it as it was. His logic was this: 'It is better to be right and fall than to be wrong and succeed.'"

It was thus that Rev. Earle Wilfley, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, in a sermon on the death of William Shakespeare, epitomized the character and the writings of the world's greatest dramatist.

Himself a student of the life and works of Shakespeare, whose birthday anniversary falls so close to the anniversary of his death that historians are inclined to believe they claim the same day, the pastor, following his custom, delivered his sixteenth annual Shakespearean sermon. His analysis of the great dramatist and poet was followed by readings from "Hamlet," "As You Like It," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Romeo and Juliet," illustrative of the man and his writings.

Shakespeare's Fame Endures.

"After 300 years the literary world still honors Shakespeare as its greatest writer," he said, "and his 'King Lear' still remains the greatest piece of English still in the language."

PIMPLES EASILY GOTTEN RID OF

Simple Home Treatment Without Salves or Lotions.

The cause of nine-tenths of the pimples people have is faulty digestion, stomach trouble, inactive liver, and constipation. When this is understood the matter of getting rid of pimples becomes a very simple one, once the right remedy is found. The great success of N. R. Tablets as a treatment for pimples lies in the fact that this remedy not only cleanses the liver to activity and relieves constipation but it also contains certain vegetable elements which tone up and correct the stomach, promote the flow of gastric juice and relieve fermentation in stomach and intestines.

It is recommended that anyone with pimples take Nature's Remedy (N. R. Tablets) every night before retiring, and do this for a few nights running and they will find that their complexion will clear, the pimples will disappear and they will feel better in every way.

For everyone that is constipated or "bilious" or anyone suffering with rheumatism—young or old—our advice is, take an N. R. Tablet tonight and you'll feel better in the morning. Get a 25c box at any drugstore. Guaranteed or your money back.
